Cheer Leader Practice Gets Under Way As Football Opener Nears

With the first football game Friday night, Sept. 27, the training school for cheer leaders is in the making. Seventeen reported for practice on Monday evening, with one old member, La Rue Pentecost, leading and supervising under the direction of Miss Elliott. Miss Pentecost worked with the new members, helping with the motions and directing yells.

Miss Elliott expressed her appreciation for the large number that gathered for the practice. She complimented the freshmen very highly for their attentive and enthusiastic work. In the beginning of the meeting, Miss Elliott explained the difference between high school cheer leading and college cheer leading. "Cheer leading in college is on a higher plane, a little above the high school, in cheer leading. We want to keep this in mind and distinguish between them. We want to keep the college yells separate, a little better and above all, be college minded."

Together with the Sophomore member, Miss La Rue Pentecost, sixteen Freshmen reported, including Katherine Moody, Frank Hamilton, Martha Higgs, Burt Green, Nelson Martin, Anna Laura Paschall, Marjorie Warmath, Betty Coe, Lee Ella Robertson, Cooper Alexander, Maurine McCarren, Charlene De Lasmit, Sara Garner, Rubie Nell Stroud, Mary Anna Logan and Martha Nell Carman.

Out of this group, Miss Elliott will select two groups to be presented to the student body. The student body will elect the cheer leaders from these groups. Miss Elliott, with the help of Miss Pentecost, said "I believe we can have the best cheering ever, if you will work with me, and do all in your power to cooperate."

Miss Elliott's assistant, Miss Juanita Ward, also helped with the meetings.

Playwright Recent Visitor

Earl Hobson Smith, author of the play from which the successful photoplay "Swanee River" was made in Hollywood, was a recent visitor to the campus and the home of the Krolls.

He is director of dramatics at Lincoln Memorial University, Cumberland Gap, Tenn., where Kroll at one time was head of the English Department. Another of Smith's plays, which was produced in New York a season or so ago, is "Lincoln." In addition to these highly successful pieces, Mr. Smith is the holder of half a dozen more titles that have been produced in hundreds of high schools in the South.

Repairs About Complete

Repairs on the buildings and general improvements on the grounds of the Junior College are about complete. Mr. Long has had a number of boys working under him during the summer, and they have been putting in full time during vacation weeks in painting, fixing up windows and doors and woodwork; the book store has undergone a number of changes under C. E. Gatlin; considerable ditching and draining have been accomplished.

On the whole buildings and grounds present a clean and attractive appearance, in which the hands of S. R. Woods, Mr. McMahan, Mr. Long, and Gene Stanford, among others, are clearly discernible.
